In Nebraska we do things differently. As the only state with a nonpartisan legislature, and the only state with a unicameral legislature, our state has clearly set itself apart in the way we value working together to truly build "the good life" for all Nebraskans.

The model of establishing a "table" organization to foster collaboration and coordination exists all across our country in many different forms. What sets Nebraska apart is that it was our nonprofit community that first drove the conversation and took the lead on bringing everyone together to create a culture of year-round civic engagement. With their established reputations for providing much-needed services, advocating for social services at the public policy level, and building strong relationships in their neighborhoods as well as across communities, nonprofits are a trusted source of accurate and up-to-date information — including voter registration resources and voter turnout messages.

While there are other 501c3 state tables, those are most often secondary entities to 501c4 organizations that serve at-capacity nonprofits. In Nebraska, we have built a service-oriented team of experts, providing capacity building resources to serve our 43 nonprofit member organizations.

Throughout this report, you will see examples of the services we provide to our members. From testing and experimentation, to collaboration and coordination, to training and grant funding - the Nebraska Civic Engagement Table has exceeded the expectations set by our Board, our funders, and ourselves. We've built trust with our members. We have set a precedent for success that is now being modeled in other states, with our guidance.

The work we do wouldn't be possible without generous funding from people who care deeply about the voices of all Nebraskans. We are amazed and humbled by the incredible work our nonprofit members are doing. We are proud to work with our coalition partners to strengthen the web of nonprofit collaboration. We are inspired by the next generation of leaders and advocates in Nebraska.

With gratitude,
Zack Burgin
Executive Director

Nebraska Civic Engagement Table

MISSION

The Nebraska Civic Engagement Table is a nonpartisan organization whose mission is to strengthen the collective impact of, and collaboration between, nonprofit 501c3 community and advocacy organizations that empower the rising electorate in our state.

OUR VISION

Our goal is to build an electorate representative of all Nebraskans, where everyone is able to participate in the democratic process and members of the rising electorate have their voices heard in the policymaking decisions that affect their lives, their families, and their communities. We will accomplish this goal by creating a culture of civic engagement in Nebraska, and by strengthening the nonprofit community through collaboration, training, and leadership development.
We are really proud of the incredible team we have built! Building a pipeline of nonprofit leadership that is representative of the Rising American Electorate is an important part of our mission, and this year we are pleased to have watched as former Table interns used the skills and experience they gained here to step into their careers as grassroots advocates.

Last March we hired our lead intern, Billie Grant, to fill our newly created Deputy Field Director role. Billie first joined our team as an intern in September 2016. Unfortunately, after just three months with us, Billie moved out of state with her partner. We are glad a new community will now benefit from her passion for social justice, and the timing of her open position allowed us to hire another talented community organizer, Kinzie Mabon.

In May, we promoted Table intern Isabel Salas to a new Office Manager and Translator position. Isabel ultimately moved on to an organizing position and is now a Lead Community Builder working on the Collective Impact Lincoln project, partnering with Table members South of Downtown Community Development, Nebraska Appleseed, and Civic Nebraska.

We would also like to acknowledge the time and talents of our previous Field Director, Emily Balf, who left the Table in early 2018. Upon her departure, Kinzie Mabon was promoted to Field Director. We are excited to watch Kinzie thrive and build organizing capacity among our members in 2018 and beyond.

These are just two examples of the leadership pipeline we are building in Nebraska. Many of our interns have gone on to study and/or pursue career opportunities in civic engagement, social justice, and grassroots advocacy. We have a large pool of talented and diverse individuals here in Nebraska, and we are dedicated to connecting our nonprofit member organizations to their future leaders.

Zack Burgin, Executive Director
zack@nebraskatable.org
Zack Burgin has 12+ years of experience organizing and managing statewide and local political campaigns, as well as coordinating issue advocacy efforts with Nebraska nonprofits and national organizations. Zack is driven by the belief that successful advocacy is relationship-based and data driven. In a past life, Zack could be found teaching Tae-Kwon-Do Lessons in his hometown.

Brett Andres, Data Director
brett@nebraskatable.org
Brett has spent the last 6 years working to increase voter participation in Nebraska through political campaigns and advocacy organizations. He is motivated by the passion of Nebraskans he has met across the state to amplify the voices of people who have been underrepresented and written off by the political system. Brett loves data and its ability to make our advocacy even more efficient and effective.

Kinzie Mabon, Field Director
kinzie@nebraskatable.org
Kinzie is a Nebraska native who has always been passionate about civic engagement and activism. In her time as an organizer, she found great joy in engaging young people as volunteers and interns. When she’s not at work, you can find Kinzie enjoying live music and contemplating how long she would survive in the event of a zombie apocalypse.

Angie Remington, Communications Director
angie@nebraskatable.org
Angie is a big picture thinker with more than a decade of nonprofit development and communications experience. She is passionate about breaking the cycle of poverty through education, mentoring, advocacy, civic engagement, and through investments in economically disadvantaged communities. You can usually find her in the woods with her two children and her dog, Sandwich.

Aracely Rodriguez, Office Manager/Translator
aracely@nebraskatable.org
Aracely has 5+ years of experience in Human Resources and administrative management. She was born in California, but has lived in Nebraska since age 12 and has made it her home. She loves playing volleyball and jet-skiing, and is a proud mom to 4 dogs that keep her very busy! Aracely is a fluent Spanish speaker.

Our Board

We would like to thank our Board of Directors for their inspiring leadership and dedication to empowering the rising electorate in Nebraska. We are grateful for your active leadership and guidance.

Women's Fund of Omaha
The Women’s Fund of Omaha examines issues and conducts research to provide informed support for initiatives that improve the lives of metropolitan area women and girls. They work to improve the lives of Omaha-area women by identifying critical issues including economic conditions, domestic violence, and women in leadership positions. The goal is for women to receive full partnership in Omaha communities.

Young Nonprofit Professionals Network Greater Omaha
The Young Nonprofit Professionals Network of Greater Omaha promotes interests, and builds opportunities for social and professional development for emerging leaders in Greater Omaha.
The Rising American Electorate (RAE) consists of a few different groups: unmarried women, African Americans, Native Americans, Latinos, low-income voters, disabled Nebraskans, and millennials. The RAE makes up about 56% of the Voter Eligible Population, yet 42% of the RAE weren’t registered to vote in 2014. For this reason, empowering the RAE is more important than ever, as they have a real chance to make tangible change in the American political system.

One of the main reasons for the low number of registered RAE voters is lack of education; both about the issues, and about the voting process itself. As the means by which we vote advances at a rapid pace, it is important that the largest group of eligible voters is able to keep up, and education about voting is the key for engaging and retaining voters.

In Nebraska, 44% of the RAE are unregistered voters, leaving their voices unheard, and decisions about their own well-being out of their control. In addition to the traditionally recognized members of the RAE, Nebraska also features a section identified as rural voters, whose primary concern is conservation issues.

The RAE can be found all throughout Nebraska. It is crucial that there are organizations everywhere working to empower the RAE, and ensure that its members are actively participating in the civic process.
SOCIAL PRESSURE MAIL EXPERIMENT

In 2017 the Nebraska Civic Engagement Table worked with the Analyst Institute to conduct a two-part social pressure experiment to measure impact on voter turnout. This was the first test of its kind to be conducted in Nebraska.

The purpose of the test was to compare the results of “social pressure” mailing across a spectrum of conditions including voting propensity, from new voters to high turnout voters. The test also measured differences in likelihood to vote for new voters who received one of several possible combinations of mailings:

1. one piece of “report card” social pressure mail;
2. one piece of “report card” social pressure mail with a “thank you for voting for the first time in 2016” message; and
3. both mail pieces received a few days apart.

For the Previous Voter Test, one piece of social pressure mail was sent to a randomized selection of voters in Lincoln and in Omaha who had voted in one or more elections prior to 2016.

The main findings in the two tests were as follows:

In the Previous Voter Test, the report card mail increased turnout among previous voters by a statistically significant 1.1 percentage points.

In the New Voter test:
- The thank you mail, report card mail, and the combination of the two increased turnout by an estimated 0.4, 0.7, and 1.2 percentage points, respectively.
- The “both mailings” condition was probably the most effective, increasing turnout by about 1.2 percentage points. The “both mailings” condition was also the only condition that increased turnout to a degree that was statistically significant at conventional levels.
- However, the effects of the three treatments were not statistically significantly different from each other.

Therefore, our finding that the both mailings treatment was most effective is suggestive rather than conclusive.

These results suggest the following takeaways:

Sending more than one piece of mail is probably a good strategy. This is consistent with a 2014 test, which found that despite diminishing returns with each additional piece of mail, two pieces of social pressure mail increased turnout more than one did, and three more than two.

Voter report cards work on new voters as well as previous voters. It was not obvious from the outset that voter report cards would work even on new voters who largely lack a vote history, but it appears that they do.

SMS POLL EXPERIMENT

In October 2017, the Nebraska Civic Engagement Table again partnered with the Analyst Institute to conduct an experiment testing the viability of phone text message (SMS) recruited public opinion polling as a cost effective tool for measuring Nebraskans’ support for proposed policies. We sent messages to 50,337 Nebraskans asking them to participate in a short survey that they could complete from their phone or from another device. After five days of recruitment, we received completed surveys from 577 Nebraskans. This method allowed us to find Nebraskans’ policy positions within a few weeks at a cost of under ten thousand dollars.

In addition to being cost effective, the sample of Nebraskans was as demographically representative as a live dial or robodial poll (though most of those polls get too many older respondents and we got “too many” younger respondents). We are confident that our poll represents the real views of Nebraskans within the same margin as a more traditional poll.

Our findings were in line with other, more traditional polls on issue support and on the President’s favorability. As a nonpartisan 501(c)3 organization, the Nebraska Civic Engagement Table used the question of the President’s favorability in accordance with polling best practices and strictly as a tool to improve the integrity of our results. As such, we did not include the responses to that question in our published results.

We asked questions on limiting payday lending interest rates, including LGBT+ Nebraskans in our nondiscrimination laws, creating a fund for paid family leave, and creating an independent redistricting commission.

For a full report of the results of the SMS poll experiment, please contact Brett at brett@nebraskatable.org.

2017 STAFF HIGHLIGHTS

Getting this job was honestly the best moment of 2017 for me. Everything about this job I’ve enjoyed so far. Most importantly, I really enjoy the group of people I work with, especially Kinzie.

-Aracely
In 2017 the Nebraska Table expanded our reach from not only supporting member civic engagement and grassroots advocacy campaigns, but also providing funding through our mini grant program. Throughout last year our members were able to hire organizing staff, pass legislation to expand voting rights, increase voter turnout, and stop damaging tax proposals - to name a few examples - with our funding and guidance.

2017 Organizing Mini Grants

InCOMMON Community Development

Amount Funded: $10,000

Project:
A new, part-time Civic Engagement Specialist was hired to deepen neighborhood collaboration and civic engagement in the Park Avenue neighborhood in Omaha. This includes project direction for The Listening Project - a program that engages Park Avenue residents in a deep-listening interview, which helps identify resident and neighborhood assets, and local leadership.

Portion of the RAE Served:
47% of InCOMMON’s current program participants identify as Hispanic/Latino.

Project Outcome:
InCOMMON hired 1 local organizer and in 2017 held nearly 200 one-on-one interviews, conducted by 22 volunteers.

“We’ve had a group of about 12 high school boys emerge as strong leaders from our youth population, and another 6-8 from among our Hispanic program participants, which are our two target populations. Throughout the year, we’ve had about 7 volunteers regularly engage with the project, and another 12 - 15 one-time volunteers throughout the year.”

Heartland Workers Center

Amount Funded: $10,000

Project:
This funding was provided to help increase voting participation in the Municipal Elections in the South Omaha Community through door-to-door canvassing, phone banking, social media advertising, a printed voter guide, and Spanish language radio spots.

Portion of the RAE Served:
Latino residents in South Omaha and young voters between the ages of 18-25.

Project Outcome:
10 paid canvassers were hired for the 6 weeks leading up to the Spring 2016 Municipal Elections. Those canvassers trained 90 volunteers, many of whom were young people between the ages of 14-25, in GOTV phone banking, canvassing, voting processes and the importance of local elections. In addition, HWC partnered with Radio Lobo to create a four-week advertising campaign with weekly installments about the process of voting, the importance of local elections on daily city services, the influence an individual vote can have as well as times and dates for Election Day, how to get more information about polling places, and a final GOTV push on Election Day. The Hispanic newspaper, Mundo Latino, shared a voter guide, issues platform, candidate profiles, and GOTV messaging – all in Spanish – before election day. Finally, HWC used paid boosts on Facebook to expand the reach of their messaging and posted live videos.

Final Numbers:
- 1514 Door attempts; 945 door contacts
- 1418 calls attempted; 391 conversations
- 4 weeks of radio spots on Radio Lobo
- 17,323 social media impressions

“We found that it was important to always have bilingual volunteers and what information was needed for them to explain to voters during a phone call or a visit... We learned that volunteers liked canvassing because they like building relationships with people in the community. We learned about small details about VAN that we needed further training on to understand the impact of our daily work. Sharing numbers with the canvassers really impacted morale, as it can be discouraging to not find everyone you are looking for, we focused on the ones we did find and informed them about voting.”

League of Women Voters-Greater Omaha

Amount Funded: $3,000

Project:
The League of Women Voters created a Voter Registration Project, focusing on high school seniors, students in Young Adult Special Education programs, community college students, and newly naturalized citizens. This project is ongoing.

Total Naturalization Ceremonies: 11
Total School Drives: 10

Portion of the RAE Served:
Young voters

Nebraska Appleseed

Amount Funded: $8,000

Project:
Subgrant to four rural community organizations/leaders $2,000 each to fund their own voter registration drives focusing on registering people of color. These rural communities were: Alliance, Lexington, South Sioux City, and Winnebago. Nebraska Appleseed worked with existing GOTV “teams” of leaders or groups: Native Futures in Alliance, the Winnebago Tribe in Winnebago, Unity in Action in South Sioux City, and The Trinidad Center in Lexington to increase voter registrations.

Portion of the RAE Served:
Native American and Latinx communities in Rural Nebraska. Project is ongoing with report due in 2018.
ACLU/Outlinc
Amount Funded: $19,960

PROJECT:
A canvassing director and 10-15 canvassers were hired to knock on up to 5,000 registered voter doors, establishing 1,000 contacts, to discuss equal rights and protection for transgender individuals. Through these conversations, canvassers hoped to identify 25 LGBTQ persons to be trained and elevated for leadership positions within their communities.

PORTION OF THE RAE SERVED:
LGBTQ+ Nebraskans

Civic Nebraska, Holland Children’s Institute, League of Women Voters of Greater Omaha
Amount Funded: $15,000

PROJECT:
This campaign was developed to collect data to support civic engagement programs in two North Omaha neighborhoods, and to build trust, community relationships, and awareness of voter resources with Civic Nebraska and League of Women Voters. The focus of this campaign was on parents, community members, and community organizations in neighborhoods served by Sherman Elementary and Lothrop Elementary.

PORTION OF THE RAE SERVED:
Voters of color in North Omaha

Nebraska Appleseed
Amount Funded: $10,000

PROJECT:
Funding for this project was provided to build GOTV capacity for five rural organizing teams (Crete, Lexington, Grand Island, Alliance/Chadron, and Scottsbluff) through five $2,000 mini-grants. Teams would use the mini-grants to canvass both door-to-door and at community events to build relationships with community members, and begin recruiting volunteers for 2018 GOTV efforts.

PORTION OF THE RAE SERVED:
Latinx voters, Low-income voters

South of Downtown Community Development Organization
Amount Funded: $4,800

PROJECT:
The goal of this program was to hire a part-time community organizer who will help facilitate 300-400 Canvass contacts and establish 3 community action committees.

PORTION OF THE RAE SERVED:
Low-income Lincoln residents

Unity in Action
Amount Funded: $3,000

PROJECT:
Funding was provided to engage registered voters in the electoral process and prepare them for the 2018 midterm elections, provide educational information to community members, and to participate in local events in order to provide voter information and register Nebraska residents to vote.

PORTION OF THE RAE SERVED:
Latinx, Somali and Native American voters in South Sioux City

Research shows that person-to-person conversation is the most effective persuasion technique. In 2017, the Nebraska Table was excited to support our member’s deep canvassing programs that sent staff, volunteer, or paid canvassers to the doors for meaningful conversations and relationship building around a variety of issues. This was accomplished through independent and joint member projects - a total of 11 member organizations participating in 9 deep canvassing campaigns.

Please note, many of these projects are ongoing. Final results will be included in the 2018 Annual Report.

NCEF
Amount Funded: $27,615

PROJECT:
Starting in September 2017, NCEF hired nine organizers responsible for expanding their Common Ground Program. The goal of Common Ground is to build a statewide infrastructure of Nebraskans who are knowledgeable about the most important conservation issues facing our state and take action to improve local and statewide sustainability practices. Common Ground builds teams of community volunteers who then organize their fellow community members to implement local conservation projects and engage with statewide conservation issues. The goal of this grant was to establish neighborhood teams in 27 central, western, and rural communities, and knock on a total of 27K doors throughout those targeted communities.

PORTION OF THE RAE SERVED:
Low-income rural Nebraskans

NCEF
Amount Funded: $19,960

PROJECT:
A canvassing director and 10-15 canvassers were hired to knock on up to 5,000 registered voter doors, establishing 1,000 contacts, to discuss equal rights and protection for transgender individuals. Through these conversations, canvassers hoped to identify 25 LGBTQ persons to be trained and elevated for leadership positions within their communities.

PORTION OF THE RAE SERVED:
LGBTQ+ Nebraskans
Both Lincoln and Omaha held municipal elections in May 2017, and many members participated in Get Out the Vote (GOTV) activities, contacting 3000 Nebraskans and creating a powerful impact. This was accomplished despite the fact that nearly all members were doing this work in addition to providing community services, anticipating changes from a new administration, and advocating for policies on the state and national level.

ZIP CODE ANALYSIS

Our target ZIP codes were chosen due to their high Rising American Electorate populations and their histories of lower turnout. The ZIP codes we targeted were 68111 in Northeast Omaha, 68107 in Southeast Omaha, and 68503 which is just east of Downtown Lincoln.

Though municipal election turnout overall was down 2.3% from the previous average in Lincoln, it was down only .2% in our target zip code of 68503. The Lincoln GOTV Coalition canvassed and phone banked steadily right up to the election. In Omaha, overall turnout was up 1.3%, and it was even higher in our target zip codes of 68111 in North Omaha (up 2.5%) and 68107 in South Omaha (up 2.3%). Some are attributing this to the mayoral election coverage. However, these are areas where we saw extensive, and intentional work from our members.

CANVASSING IMPACT BY ZIP CODE

In order to determine the impact that our canvassers had on individual voters, we analyzed all registered voters in the target zip codes and took their history of voting in federal and municipal elections into account. The graphic below illustrates the degree to which a contact increased an individual’s vote propensity in each ZIP code.

![Canvassing Impact by ZIP Code graphic]

NOTES ON ZIP CODE ANALYSIS

A contact increased a voter’s likelihood of going to the polls by 9.38% in 68503, 6.01% in 68107, and 8.49% in 68111. Overall, a conversation with a Table Member’s canvasser about the importance of voting made an individual 7.67% more likely to vote.

This finding further reinforces the value of person to person communications as the single most effective tool for getting individuals to vote.

We suspect that this analysis underestimates the impact of contacts in 68107 because it cannot accurately capture the impact of ethnicity on voter propensity. Turnout efforts in 68107 were primarily targeted for hispanic and latino voters who may have a lower baseline propensity to vote in municipal elections than their white neighbors.

GOTV MINIGRAMS

Through our Mini Grant program, the Table directly funded GOTV efforts of several organizations, including:

- $3,000 to The League of Women Voters of Greater Omaha’s Voter Registration Project focusing on high school seniors, students in Young Adult Special Education programs, community college students and newly naturalized citizens.
- TOTAL NATURALIZATION CEREMONIES: 11
- TOTAL SCHOOL DRIVES: 10
- $10,000 to Heartland Workers Center efforts to increase voting participation in the Municipal Elections in the South Omaha Community through door-to-door canvassing, phone banking, social media advertising, a printed voter guide, and Spanish language radio spots.
  - 1154 Door attempts; 945 door contacts
  - 1418 calls attempted; 391 conversations
  - 4 weeks of radio spots on Radio Lobo
  - 17,323 social media impressions
- $8,000 to Nebraska Appleseed, which was dispersed in subgrants to four rural community organizations/leaders to fund their own voter registration drives focusing on people of color. Each community has a goal of registering 50 new voters, for a total of at least 200 new rural voters. This project is ongoing with a report due in 2018. Organizations funded include:
  - Native Futures in Alliance
  - Winnebago Tribe in Winnebago
  - Unity in Action in South Sioux City
  - The Trinidad Center in Lexington

This is a 250% increase over the number of Table Members who engaged in direct voter and constituent outreach in 2016.
The Nebraska Civic Engagement Table provides member-wide training as part of nonprofit capacity building, as well as one-on-one support by request. In 2017, we collaborated with our partners at Coalition for a Strong Nebraska, and we also tapped Table members’ expertise to train other members.

RACIAL EQUITY & COMMUNICATIONS
In September 2017, the Nebraska Table brought in nationally recognized specialist in race relations and civic engagement, David Campt. David led two training sessions intended to help our members communicate about racial and social equity with broad audiences. These trainings gave participants the chance to practice creating messages about equity, about the importance of being vocal advocates for social and public policy change on behalf of the communities they serve.

RAPID RESPONSE EMAIL ADVOCACY
In October, we partnered with Coalition for a Strong Nebraska to deliver a two-part series on lobbying: direct and grassroots. The Table led a half day session covering external mobilization strategy for engaging grassroots advocates in rapid response efforts. Attendees learned how to build a rapid response list, establish a strong relationship with their network, identify rapid response situations and legislative targets, create email action alerts, optimize their campaign on social media, and record data on their results.

GATHERINGS STORIES & TESTIMONIALS
In December Communications Director, Angie Remington, hosted a panel discussion with Lauren Williams from Planned Parenthood of the Heartland, and Andrew Dickinson of Fly Over Media. We discussed challenges and best practices around asking someone to tell their story, whether it is in front of a legislative committee, or for fundraising or promotional use by an organization. We also covered ethical considerations when approaching difficult topics, building trust, legal concerns and privacy issues, anonymity, and how to use visual imagery to reinforce impact.

BALLOT INITIATIVES
In December our Data Director, Brett Andres, provided Table members with a webinar training on creating successful ballot initiative campaigns. The webinar covered timelines, campaign structure, building long term power, and data tools available through the Table.

VAN TRAININGS
In 2017, the Table provided 12 individualized VAN trainings to member organizations, covering topics like canvass administration and data, quality control, and general user-interface and usage training. In addition, our Data Director created a MyCampaign 101 webinar, which is available on the Table Member Portal.

FIELD TRAININGS
Our Field team provides individualized field organizing training and strategic consultation to our members throughout the year. GOTV trainings cover the purpose and effectiveness of voter contact activities, including canvassing and phone banking, developing scripts, voter registration, and using VAN to pull targeted walk lists and record accurate data.

Deep Canvassing training requires a more in-depth look at traditional voter contact methods, including ensuring that all organizers understand the project, running through multiple scripts, practicing personal storytelling, and conversations on establishing an emotional connection with the people you meet at the doors and on the phones. In 2017 our Field team provided deep canvassing training to member organizations working on anti-discrimination issues (in Lincoln) and community building in neighborhoods in North Omaha and South Downtown Lincoln.
The Nebraska Civic Engagement Table website launched in January 2017, offering resources to the public such as a comprehensive list of our members and descriptions of their mission and programs, as well as a community calendar with information about local municipal meetings and how to get an issue onto the agenda. The website also posts member job and volunteer opportunities and information about joining the Table.

The website is home to our Member Portal, which hosts a wealth of resources available to our members 24/7. This is in addition, of course, to our Member Help Desk through which members can submit requests for training, resources, information, or other needs.

2017 STAFF HIGHLIGHTS

On December 1st, Brett and I went to Grand Island to present an advocacy training at the Planned Parenthood Policy Summit - the first of three in 2017. I'd never had the opportunity to do a presentation with Brett, and I found the whole experience very enjoyable. We interacted with some enthusiastic community activists at the Summit, and I also got to reconnect with people I had built relationships with during my time at Civic Nebraska, which was an added bonus!

-Kinzie

My favorite Table moment of 2017 was conducting the social pressure mail experiment. It was a rigorous experiment and it demonstrated that social pressure mail does work in Nebraska, even in city races. Not only did I enjoy constructing and conducting the experiment itself, the results can potentially inform strategic decision making in the future.
